CLAYTON AGRI-MARKETING, INC.

Since 1987, Tony Clayton, president of Clayton Agri-Marketing, Inc., has been extensively involved in each phase of the live animal export business by supplying quality livestock genetics to farmers throughout the world. When you purchase your next livestock shipment through Clayton Agri-Marketing, Inc. you receive not only the best available livestock, but also the service and technology to maximize the genetic potential of these animals.

LIVESTOCK GENETICS "A GLOBAL SOURCE"

Clayton Agri-Marketing, Inc. takes great pride in the network of suppliers it has developed throughout the past several years. We can provide you with top quality beef and dairy cattle, swine, goats, sheep and horses for both pleasure and work. We also can work within the developing arena of exotic animals. Depending upon specifications, we can provide registered animals to our customers which are designing a new breeding program or assist in increasing production levels by selecting grade (purebred) non-registered animals for immediate usage.

Regardless of your location or the number of animals selected, Clayton Agri-Marketing, Inc. can deliver your purchase via air, sea or truck. Our top priority is the care of the animals so they arrive at their new destination in top physical condition.

GLOBAL CUSTOMER SERVICE

As the world gets smaller and animal genetics become more readily available, Clayton Agri-Marketing, Inc. continues to offer extensive consulting services to assist in your purchase decisions. Our customers have the option to travel with our staff and personally select their animals for shipment or we will select the animals to meet or surpass their specifications. Our service does not end after the selection process. We will coordinate all blood testing and health regulations to insure the animals exported to you meet your country's requirements. We arrange transportation to the various ports of embarkations located throughout the United States and then to your delivery location. If you desire insurance coverage, we arrange for the terms which best meet your needs and budget.

GLOBAL CONSULTATION

With the investment you make in your genetic purchase, it is our top priority to insure you receive the maximum genetic potential from your livestock. We can arrange for professional consultation on your farm in the areas of genetics, nutrition, animal health, management and record keeping. We are very proud of the fact we have relationships with many nationally-known universities who provide consultants which are experts and can give you unbiased opinions and information.
